

RUNCIE TESTIFIES AGAINST WOOD.

Tells Where and How Magazine
Article Attacking Gen. Brooke
Was Conceived and Written.

TOLD TO GIVE FACTS ALONE.

Says the Governor General Asked Him To Write the Article, Being His Confidential Adviser.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The senate committee on military affairs resumed its investigation of the charges against Gen. Wood today. The principal witness was Maj. James C. Runcie, now an attorney at Havana, who during the American occupation of Cuba contributed an article to a magazine which reflected on the administration of Maj. Gen. Brooke as governor-general, and which Maj. Rathbone charged was inspired by Gen. Wood to promote his own advancement to the governor-generalship.

JAI ALAI EXPLAINED.

Other witnesses called by the committee to testify today were Maj. G. E. Ladd, U. S. A., who audited Gen. Wood's Santiago accounts; Wallis Clearman, a former employee of a New York jewelry house, who made the sale to the Jai Alai company of the silver set which was given to Gen. Wood, and an employee of the bureau of insular affairs, who explained the character of the game and the manner in which speculation is indulged in by the speculators. Baskets, racquets and other paraphernalia were used in illustrating the manner of the play.

WILL OVERLOOK NOTHING.

A subpoena was issued today for Maj. Gen. Brooke, former governor-general of Cuba, who was succeeded by Gen. Wood. The subpoena was issued following testimony given by Maj. Runcie concerning the magazine article which appeared over his signature. From the character of the witnesses called it appears that the investigation is to be complete in every particular, and that none of the charges is to be overlooked as unworthy of consideration.

RUNCIE ON THE STAND.

Maj. James E. Runcie of Havana, who is probably the most important witness that will be offered by the opponents of Gen. Leonard Wood in their attempt to prevent his confirmation to be major-general, was on the stand several times during the day, telling the committee of a dinner at Santiago, Cuba, attended by himself, Gen. Wood and Ray Stannard Baker, a newspaper man, at which, it is alleged, was planned the magazine article attacking Maj. Gen. Brooke, that has figured so conspicuously in the Wood case. Maj. Runcie was stopped more than once during the course of his testimony and told to give nothing but facts, of which he had personal knowledge. This did not exclude his story of the dinner incident, which resulted in the issue of subpoenas for three other witnesses, among whom is Gen. Brooke.

WHAT WOOD WANTED.

In his testimony Maj. Runcie explained that he had acted as the confidential adviser of Gen. Wood for nearly two years, and that they lived together at Santiago. It was while they were living in the same house that Mr. Baker went to Santiago in search of material for a magazine article. A meeting was arranged between the men and a dinner followed, testified Maj. Runcie, at which they discussed the plan to have published an article which would exploit the success of Gen. Wood in dealing with affairs at Santiago, and draw a comparison with the situation at Havana unfavorable to the administration of Gen. Brooke.

THE MAGAZINE ARTICLE.

Maj. Runcie declared that Gen. Wood asked him to write the article, and that he had done so. The article was given to Baker and published in February, 1900, over the name of Maj. Runcie. He asserted that Gen. Wood knew what the article contained, and that they had correspondence about it as a result of the furor created by its publication. He offered to produce copies of letters which he had written to Gen. Wood concerning his own defense. It was not until Gen. Wood succeeded Gen. Brooke that the article was published. The effect was a severance of the relations between the witness and Gen. Wood. Maj. Runcie then began the practice of law at Havana, and, according to his testimony, has been there ever since.

INVITED COURT-MARTIAL.

The witness said that when the secretary of war went to Cuba following the disclosures to the war department, the suggestion was made, either by the secretary or by Gen. Wood, that he be court-martialed for writing the article, and that he had, in effect, invited the court-martial. The committee informed Maj. Runcie that he would be called again some time next week. He left Washington tonight for Cleveland. Maj. Runcie is expected to return within three days and hold himself subject to the call of the committee. His connections in Havana make it necessary for him to appear before the committee to testify concerning matters other than the writing of the magazine article.

RATHBONE'S ARREST.

It is said he has knowledge of Gen. Wood's order for the arrest of Maj. Rathbone and, as the agent at Havana for a Maryland bonding company, can give information in regard to Maj. Rathbone's charge that Gen. Wood used his influence with the courts in having his (Rathbone's) bond fixed at a figure he declares to have been unreasonable.

CLEARMAN TESTIFIES.

Mr. Clearman was twice on the stand. The first time he told the committee that after the purchase of the silver set he took the ware to Havana and delivered it to Zenas Quesada and received the purchase price $5,000. He was not asked whether duty was paid on the set. The second time he was asked concerning the charge that while negotiations were progressing between the purchasers and the jewelry company a telegram was received by the purchaser telling him not to close the deal until notice of the granting of the concession to the Jai Alai company had been published in the official gazette at Havana. Mr. Clearman said that he had never heard of such a telegram.

MR. CLEVELAND IS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Says That His Determination Not
To Run for Presidency is Unalterable and Conclusive.

MAKES THE ANNOUNCEMENT.

Writes a Letter to St. Clair McKelway,
The Editor of the Brooklyn
Eagle.

New York, Nov. 27.—Grover Cleveland has sent the following letter to the editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle: "Princeton, N. J., Nov. 25.—My Dear Mr. McKelway—I have wanted for a long time to say something which I think should be said to you before others.

"You can never know how grateful I am for the manifestations of kindly feeling toward me on the part of my countrymen, which your initiative has brought out. Your advocacy in the Eagle of my nomination for the presidency came to me as a great surprise; and it has been seconded in such manner by Democratic sentiment that conflicting thoughts of gratitude and duty have caused me to hesitate as to the time and manner of a declaration on my part concerning the subject—if such a declaration shall seem necessary or proper.

"In the midst of it all, and in full view of every consideration presented, I have not for a moment been able, nor am I now able, to open my mind to the thought that in any circumstance or upon any consideration I should ever again become the nominee of my party for the presidency. My determination not to do so is unalterable and conclusive. This you at least ought to know from me, and I should be glad if the Eagle were made the medium of its conveyance to the public. Very sincerely yours,

"GROVER CLEVELAND.

lyn, N. Y."

A STRANGE CASE.

A Denver Man Wrote a Book and Did Not Know It.

Denver, Nov. 27.—What is pronounced by physicians a case of double consciousness has been brought to public notice through a suit filed by David Charters against the city of Denver for $15,000 damages for injuries to his head sustained by falling on a defective sidewalk. After the accident, which occurred on Dec. 30, 1901, Charters proclaimed himself "Daniel, the Prophet," and wrote a book entitled "Daniel's Vision and Mission: is Heaven Real? Is Hell Real?"

He preached on the streets and established a prosperous mission. He also traveled about the country as an evangelist.
Charters a few weeks ago fully recovered from his injury, and he then declared that the interval since the accident happened was a blank to him. He had no knowledge of having written a book. After reading the book he pronounced its contents idiotic.

Czarina Was Not Poisoned.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—The statement published by a news agency in the United States today to the effect that Die Morgen Post had confirmed reports that the czarina is not suffering from inflammation of the ear, but from the effects of strychnine placed in the food of the royal table by Nihilists, who thus attempted to kill the czar, is absolutely denied and is considered preposterous.
Die Morgen Post merely noted the rumor published in the Polish press that the death of the Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse,
was caused by the eating of diseased cysters. Die Morgen Post, in referring to this rumor, made no mention whatever of the czar or the czarina.
